Federal Body Issues Findings in Which All Walkouts of Carrier Labor Are Forbidden; New Order Is Drastic

Complete Control Over Disputes Is Demanded; Breaching of Regulations Will Result in Severe Penalties

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—(By the Associated Press.)—The U. S. Railroad Labor Board today, in effect, forbade union labor from striking without the board's permission and declared that all strikers who violated the order would be classified as outlaws who had voluntarily removed themselves from the protection of the transportation act.

The board today issued its decision in the hearing held Wednesday to determine the responsibility for the general strike last week by the Big Four brotherhoods and the Switchmen's union.

THREE FINDINGS OF BOARD ANNOUNCED.

The board made three findings. These were:

1. That any such disputes must be referred to the board before any action is taken.
2. That any interruption of traffic would be a blow aimed at the peace, prosperity and safety of the entire nation.
3. That any union going out on strike will forfeit its right and the rights of its members in all existing contracts and benefits accorded by the transportation act.

The board's final statement on the railroad strike which was to have been called tomorrow morning by the big four brotherhoods and the switchmen's union, the board's determination to assert the maximum power allotted to it under the transportation act. Every dispute involving changes in wages, rules, working conditions, etc., must be referred to the board, and no action taken by either side until authorized by the board, the decision says.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Railroad executives continued in their defiance of the board's order of immediate reduction in wages, despite the circumstances under which the railroad strike was called off. It was learned today that executives will go before the United States Railroad Labor Board and ask a 10 per cent cut.

The board, however, will not consider the case until after several months. The board cannot be expected for a year. This was the understanding which the board gave the union heads before the strike call was rescinded.

The board is resting easy on the assurance that they will not cut wages in the immediate future, William G. Lee, president of the railroad trainmen, said.

Peters met death when he was overcome by smoke while attempting to extinguish the fire in the Sutter store, which was also was overcome by the flames. He was shot in the chest and died about an hour after Peters was taken from the basement. Both men were taken to the emergency hospital, but attempts to resuscitate them were futile.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Oct. 29.—Clandestine love affairs of a pretty 19-year-old Sunday school teacher and church organist here were the only clues authorities had today to a mysterious double murder.

Miss Louise Doyle, religious worker, and John W. Newman, 28-year-old father of three children, were found dead in an abandoned house near here after police had searched for them a week. Three bullet wounds were found in Newman's body. Miss Doyle was killed by a shot through the heart. No weapons were found.

County authorities traced movements of the few boy friends of the slain girl.

Newman's auto was found the day after he and Miss Doyle disappeared. It had been abandoned on a lonely country road. The auto was five miles from the deserted house where the murder took place. Newman was wearing a farm hand's hat and had gone to clean up the premises.

Diamond rings and other jewelry worn by the girl had not been taken and Newman's pockets had not been searched, police said.

GREAT LOTTERY, PLAN OF FRANCE TO PAY HER DEBT

Daily Prize of Million Francs in $12,000,000,000 Gamble Is Proposed.

PARIS, Oct. 28.—The world's greatest lottery, with a daily prize of a million francs may be resorted to by the French government as a last resort for finding the money with which to meet its mounting deficit. A bill to establish the lottery has been introduced by Andre Lefebvre, former minister of war.

Under the bill the total of the lottery will reach the astounding figure of $12,000,000,000 at normal exchange, or less than $5,000,000,000 to be paid in prizes. During the first two years there will be a daily drawing for 1,250,000 francs, two weekly drawings of 500,000 francs each and approximately 7000 smaller prizes monthly.

After the first two years the million-franc drawing will be weekly instead of daily. The issue price will be 500 francs and bonds not winning prizes will be reimbursed at par in twenty years.

Commenting on the bill, Lefebvre said: "I expect to hear a flood of objections from the moralists, but it is time to forget morality and practice common sense. The plain facts are that the people will not subscribe for an ordinary loan, but must be enticed by the chances for a big reward."

"Financiers know that we are living in a paupering age. It is time to take advantage of that fact, and realize there is a certain crash ahead."

TROUBLES OF A TRANSFER MAN

Tanlac has made a new man out of me and I'm strong for it," said E. K. Childers, 163 Texas street, Pomona, Calif., popular agent for the Los Angeles Transfer Company.

"It certainly is surprising that a little medicine could do what Tanlac did for me. When I began taking it I was so weak I could hardly drag myself around, and my health had been steadily failing for months as a result of a severe attack of the flu. I fell off until I was little more than skin and bones and was so nervous my hand shook like a man with the palsy."

"I took Tanlac on the advice of my mother, and it is the simple truth when I say that the medicine acted almost like magic. I have gained twenty pounds in weight and I am in the pink of condition now. I can eat, sleep and work better than I have in years."

Tanlac is sold in Oakland by the Owl Drug Company, and by leading druggists everywhere.—Advertisement.

meeting of club members is called for 2 p. m.

Twenty-first Century club women are arranging a benefit card party in the Derby street building for Thursday, November 17. The house fund will receive the proceeds. Mrs. Hogan D. Cosby will be chairman.

Co-operation with ex-service men and women is the newest department to be incorporated into the work of California Federation of Women's clubs. Mrs. A. D. McLean is the chairman. A survey completed by her preliminary to launch any definite program of work, reports 7000 war veterans unemployed in California, with an additional 50,000 in the hospitals. Establishment of a recreational service department in each club is the project of the state chairman. Sub committees on hospital, relief, visiting and entertainment will be organized for the benefit of the service men and women in the local communities.

When the business and professional women assemble for their regular Thursday luncheon next week, it will be to celebrate the inaugural function in the new headquarters at 1741 Broadway. A kitchen shower is announced. For the fund which will purchase the furnishings and cozy touches, a benefit theater party is being arranged at the Fulton theater, on Thursday night, November 17.

This is the night of the last benefit theater party which Emerson School Parent-Teacher Association is giving at the Claremont. Equipment for the local playground depends upon the proceeds from the shows of the two evenings.

Mrs. W. A. Fitzgerald, president of the California Federation of Women's clubs, and Mrs. Sidney Thomas Exley, vice-president at large, will share with delegates to the annual convention of the southern district, at a brilliant reception and banquet, at the St. Ann hotel, Santa Ana, on Tuesday, November 15. The function is preliminary to the three-day convention. The film of the May pageant in Yosemite valley, will be presented before adjournment. Mrs. A. W. Wohlford, Escondido, is district president.

EXATION FOR KELEY, THREAT PARDEE'S TALK

Charter Scheme Advocate College City Must

Sample Ballot Shows Separate County Will Be Voted on at Charter Election Nov. 15

SAMPLE BALLOT

GENERAL TICKET—CITY OF OAKLAND—NOVEMBER 15, 1921.

INSTRUCTIONS TO VOTERS: To vote on the proposed stamp a cross (X) in the voting square after the word "yes" or after the word "no." All marks except the cross (X) are forbidden. All distinguishing marks or erasures are forbidden and make the ballot void. If you wrongly stamp, tear or deface this ballot, return it to the inspector of election and obtain another.

PROPOSAL SUBMITTED TO VOTE OF ELECTORS.
Shall the City of Oakland join with the other incorporated cities and towns within the County of Alameda, together with the unincorporated territory within the said county, and form and establish a consolidated CITY AND COUNTY OF ALAMEDA, provided the charter hereinafter mentioned be adopted over the entire County of Alameda, or as the CITY AND COUNTY OF OAKLAND if said charter be adopted over the entire County of Alameda, to be governed by the charter proposed by the Board of Freeholders which charter has been filed in the office of the County Clerk and duly published, said charter to take effect in accordance with the terms of Section 221 thereof?	YES
Said section provides as follows: "For the purpose of nominating and electing the councilmen, trustees of the several boroughs, and the judges of the Municipal Court, and for the purpose of amending all existing provisions authorizing the election of officers of the several districts and the municipal corporation within the city and county, this charter shall take effect immediately upon its approval by the Legislature." For all other purposes this charter shall take effect on the first day of July, 1923."	NO

Every elector who votes "yes" on November 15 will vote for a separate city and county of Oakland. In the sample ballot now being mailed, and here reproduced, the issue of county division is before the voters. If a general consolidation fails (and it is conceded on all sides that Berkeley and Alameda and other

Realty Board Members' Charter Action Scored

C. P. Eggleston, member of the Oakland Real Estate Board and the Real Estate Trade Association, made public a communication sent to the real estate board protesting against what he terms was the action of certain officers and members of the organization in "pushing resolutions purporting to give endorsement to the proposed charter, framed as if expressing the sentiments of all our members, when, as a matter of fact, there is a difference of opinion."

Eggleston also expressed the belief these board officers and members "overstepped their authority." His communication continues:
"These zealous advocates of autocratic city management and concentration of municipal control lay themselves open to just criticism. I resent their action, because my feelings are directly opposite to those expressed in their resolutions. The gentlemen are entitled to speak for themselves, but not for me."

VOICES OBJECTION.
"I object to the publication of such a resolution without proper debate and deliberation, and without hearing of discussion of both sides of a question."
"I object to the assumption that the proposed charter will bring consolidation. That is a violent assumption and is not based on a correct understanding of the law and facts. For if by any unfortunate fluke Oakland should give a majority for the charter, it would mean division of the county, not consolidation."

"As a matter of fact, the proposed charter threatens to split Alameda county wide open, to the detriment not only of Oakland, but also of all other parts of the county. Although some of the apologists for the proposed charter admit this, and a few speakers openly avow that they are in favor of leaving the county and forming a separate city and county government for Oakland, I do not believe that any great number of our members after mature consideration will sanction that position. Many who have promised to vote 'yes' at the first election firmly assert their determination to vote 'no' when at the second election an effort will be made to cut Oakland off from the remainder of the county."

DOOMED TO DEFEAT.
"The disposition of so many leading citizens to fight against disruption of the county leads me to conclude that in any event the charter is doomed to defeat, and so it seems the part of wisdom to kill it at the first election, thus saving the money of the taxpayers which otherwise would go for expenses of the second election."

"For the sake of argument, let us suppose that Oakland's voters will cast a majority in favor of the charter, and finally will set up a government, except that it will be a low Piedmont and Emeryville, and may annex certain unincorporated territory."
"What would happen then?"

"Berkeley and Alameda would immediately set up their independent government, dividing would arise, the members of these communities would strive more earnestly than ever for the support of their home institutions, and the flow of trade that now is enjoyed by the business men of Oakland would practically cease."

"Business on Broadway would be less profitable."
"Rents would go down."
"Property values in every business district would decline."

WILL MEAN DIVISION.
"Landlords and tenants ought to vote together against the proposed charter, for if carried to its conclusion it will mean division instead of unification."
"It will bring higher taxes instead of lower taxes."
"But this unfortunate thing need not happen. There is a perfectly safe and sane way out of the difficulty."

"All Oakland has to do is to vote 'no' at the first election, and all will be well."
"Then Berkeley and Alameda will be stopped from forming separate governments."
"Then division of the county, which would financially injure every family in Oakland, would be impossible."

CALLS FOR CONFESSION.
"If this time every thinking voter knows that a vote for the proposed charter is a vote for county division, and I call on those who favor that plan to come out openly and confess it. They may know where they stand and may properly classify themselves in regard to their claims for consideration as advocates of advancement. To disrupt Alameda county would be a disaster. It would be disastrous."

"Mr. Porter, a member of the Oakland Real Estate Board, who was at the last meeting of that organization, expressed my views exactly when he deprecated the hasty manner in which action on the proposed charter had been carried through, and expressed the hope that this would be the last time that this body would adopt resolutions on any important public question without first hearing both sides of the case."

"If that wise course had been followed in this instance, according to my judgment, no resolutions in that form, at least, could have been carried, without the filing of a minority report."

DISASTER IS SEEN.
"Permit me to say, in conclusion, that I am glad that those members of the Oakland Real Estate Board, who are sponsoring the impending division of our county, have at last consented to hear a speaker who was able to present the arguments for the opponents of the charter. Now that they have had one true doctrine expounded I hope that they will be able to see the light and change their tactics."

"In this appeal I invoke their better judgment, asking them to consider carefully the danger of disaster that would be brought to Oakland in the event of separation from the rest of the county. If our members will give as close study to this problem as they do to the problems of their daily business, a whole lot of them will go to the polls and vote 'no' on the 15th of November."

He was arrested on the warrant sworn to by M. Weissman of 2569 San Pablo avenue, who conducts a clothing store. He is alleged to have given the merchant a check for $6.50 for payment of a small purchase, according to the police, he has passed about nine checks, amounting to about $75. No data was set for his preliminary examination.

CHARTER DENIES VOTE ON SHERIFF, GELDER REVEALS

Carpenters' Local Extends the Time of Speaker; Disapproval Voiced.

Under the proposed new charter scheme voters would be denied the right of voting for candidates for the office of sheriff and chief of police and other important departmental city heads, it was pointed out last night by John Gelder, of the Anti-Division League, in response to a question submitted to him during the course of an address before Carpenters' Local 1667.

"The city manager form of government, as provided in the charter scheme," Gelder said, "would deprive you of a great degree of rightful participation in the government of your city through the election of your municipal government."

SPECIFIC INSTANCE.
"For instance, suppose some contingency should arise which deeply affected labor unions and their members, or, in fact, anything should come to the forefront where adequate official protection was essential."

"The sheriff could be appealed to, but, as an officer appointed by the city manager, he would be obliged to refer your plea to his superior officer—the city manager. This would be one form of the many forms of autocracy we would be up against."

Gelder charged that the new charter would fix a high minimum salary for the city manager but would not fix any minimum for policemen, firemen and a legion of other comparatively subordinate city workers, making possible an arbitrary reduction in their wages under any plea, as, for example, a retrenchment in municipal expenditures.

TAX INCREASES.
Gelder was asked if the new charter would increase taxation. He replied that it would mean not only the imposition of the so-called metropolitan tax, but the mandatory imposition and collection of a borough tax as well.

The conclusion of his address was followed by group discussions. In one group of nineteen union members it was disclosed, only one expressed approval of the new charter scheme.

Gelder was scheduled to have spoken ten minutes, but the time limit was extended to forty minutes after a unanimous vote by the audience.

Instruction for Pay Banned by Hunter

The superintendent of schools today sent a reminder to the whole department that no principal or teacher is allowed to give instruction to pupils for pay. The question has come up repeatedly, especially in night schools, where foreigners, anxious to learn English quickly, are said to have made offers to their teachers for extra instruction.

"We do not object to teachers making extra money," says Superintendent of Schools Fred M. Hunter, "but this practice is a dangerous one and cannot be allowed without opening the door to practices which might become a malignant influence on the whole department. Teachers must not accept compensation from pupils."

STRUCK BY AUTO.
BERKELEY, Oct. 28.—Walking in front of an automobile driven by E. T. Sullivan, 1915 Home street, Miss Lillian Cole, 2746 Webster street, was slightly injured last evening at Shattuck avenue and Alameda way. Miss Cole exclaims the driver of all blame for the accident, declaring that while the machine was going slowly she did not see the car. She was taken to Temple hospital for treatment.

It is this attitude which results in a minority victory in local elections. Citizens should make a point to vote early, for every charter advocate will cast his ballot.

"Those citizens who have opportunity to assist in clerical or office work are urged to give their services at association headquarters, in the Francis Shattuck building, or Native Sons' hall, on Shattuck avenue."

BURGLAR ENTERS SCHOOL.
BERKELEY, Oct. 28.—A roll of paper was used as a torch to light up the building by a burglar who entered the gymnasium of the Frances Fremont school, Telegraph avenue and Derby street, last night. Nothing was taken, so the police say.

He was arrested on the warrant sworn to by M. Weissman of 2569 San Pablo avenue, who conducts a clothing store. He is alleged to have given the merchant a check for $6.50 for payment of a small purchase, according to the police, he has passed about nine checks, amounting to about $75. Ballot Will Be on County Division, Travelers Told

Despite all assertions to the contrary, the decision as to whether Alameda county is to be divided will be the paramount issue submitted to the voters at the election of November 15, according to Joseph R. Knowland, one of the leaders of the forces opposing the new charter scheme, in an address yesterday before the United Commercial Travelers. Dr. George C. Pardee spoke before the same organization a week ago in support of the proposed new charter scheme.

Knowland characterized as utterly and positively untrue reiterated statements to the effect that the question of a separate city and county of Oakland, which, he said, means county division, will not be up for consideration.

"I am satisfied that the gentlemen who made this assertion would not have done so had they read the sample ballot just being issued to the voters."

The speaker displayed a sample ballot as an exhibit in complete proof that "not only will the people of Oakland have in the question of joining with other communities, but also, if they vote 'yes,' will place themselves on record for a city and county of Oakland."

"In other words, the ballot so reads that they vote for a general consolidation and, at the same time, in case the general consolidation fails (and it is conceded it will) they likewise place themselves on record for a separate city and county of Oakland."

The question then submitted to the voters was read from the ballot by Knowland. It follows:
"Shall the city of Oakland join with other incorporated cities and towns within the county of Alameda, together with the unincorporated territory within the said county, and form and establish a consolidated city and county, wherein there shall be a system of boroughs, said city and county to be known as the city and county of Alameda, provided the charter hereinafter mentioned be adopted over the entire county of Alameda, or as the city and county of Oakland if said charter be adopted over a lesser area than the entire county of Alameda, to be governed by the charter proposed by the board of freeholders, which charter has been filed in the office of the County Clerk and duly published, said charter to take effect in accordance with the terms of Section 221 thereof?"

PROOF TO CONTRARY.
"Some of the speakers," Knowland continued, "also assert that the charter itself is not to be considered at the first election. The paragraph I have read is proof to the contrary." The speaker repeated his demand for the detailed figures of the savings claimed by the charter proponents for both sides of the ledger, asserting that the charter offered unlimited latitude for additional employees and departments.

"Many people are asking," he said, "why if these alleged savings can be made the charter people have not put forward the figures. The position of the charter proponents is being weakened daily. The real truth is that a city and county of Oakland—and that is what the question has resolved itself to—means higher taxes for every taxpayer in such a city and county."

ATTACK IS BEGUN ON CONTRA COSTA ANTI-BOOZE LAW

Unconstitutionality Is Alleged in Habeas Corpus Proceedings at Martinez.

MARTINEZ, Oct. 29.—Constitutionality of Contra Costa's dry law is attacked in a petition for a writ of habeas corpus filed today in Superior court on behalf of Louis Mainini, of Crockett, recently sentenced to the county jail by Justice of the Peace Ray Standish. The petition was filed by Attorneys H. E. Manning and Thomas J. Horan.

According to attorneys, one point on which Horan and Manning claim the law to be invalid has not been passed on by the courts of California. Two points on which the attorneys base their claim of unconstitutionality are:

1. That the ordinance attempts to enforce the Eighteenth Amendment without qualifying powers by the State of California.

2. That it attempts to delegate to the Congress of the United States legal powers vested in the county of Contra Costa and the board of supervisors.

Belief was expressed today that it will be on the latter claim that Mainini's attorneys will mainly base their fight.

District Attorney A. B. Tinning, upon whom devolves the duty of opposing the writ, expressed himself as of firm belief that the law is constitutional. Tinning holds the opinion that the law in no way attempts to delegate county powers to any other branch of government and is entirely within authorization of state statutes.

The district attorney in support of his position, cited powers of the board of supervisors under state statutes as they would affect the attack on the dry law. One provision which Tinning admits believes establishes the validity of the act is as follows:

"Supervisors' powers—To make and enforce within the limits of their county such local police, sanitary, and other regulations as are not in conflict with the general laws."

"The county dry law is not in conflict with any general law," Tinning said. "It is purely a police measure. Tinning drew attention to the fact that the ordinance does not embody a provision for abatement, which was the question at issue in a recent San Diego case in which much importance has been placed by dry leaders. The petition for the writ is to be argued Monday, November 1, before Superior Judge A. B. McKenzie, to whose court it was assigned this morning. Judge R. H. Latimer, to whom the petition was presented, issued an order fixing the time of hearing and directing that Mainini be released from custody under bond of $200 to be approved by Judge Standish.

Mainini was one of eight men arrested in a recent racket raid. On October 6 he pleaded guilty and was sentenced by Judge Standish to a fine of $300 and a term of 90 days in jail.

A considerable number of arrests have been made throughout the county under the provisions of the act and in many instances both fines and jail terms have been imposed.

IMBIBER VISITS GAS STATION IN HUNT FOR DRINK

ALAMEDA, Oct. 29.—It was with uncertain steps that a man approached the gasoline station at Sherman street and Central avenue late last night. The place had been closed for more than an hour. He hesitated himself, regarding his tie and tapped lightly on the glass door. There was no one to answer his knock. He tapped again.

W. H. Miller, who resides on San Jose avenue, three blocks away, was passing. He thought the man was trying to break into the place. Drawing a revolver he approached.

"Give me some more that stuff," said the man with a faltering voice.

"What stuff?" Miller wanted to know, tightening his grip on the revolver.

"You know. Don't kid me. I'm desperate man. Want some more that stuff."

Further questioning brought out startling statements. The man said he had bought good "hooch" at a place that looked exactly like the gas station, but come to think of it, after all, he was somewhere in Oakland when he had his last drink.

"All right," he said to Miller. "You had as many drinks as me, you wouldn't know gas from booze either."

Anna Held's Estate Squandered, Charge

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29.—Squandered estate of the late Anna Held, who died last year, was the subject of a hearing today in Superior court. The hearing was held in the removal of Hanlon, Miss Carrera, who is also an actress, charged that the attorney failed to comply with a court order of last December which directed him to turn over to her jewelry, stocks and bonds and money totaling $175,000, the remainder of her mother's estate.

According to Hanlon, who denies the charges, he turned over jewelry, bonds and money to Miss Carrera last December which amounted approximately to $175,000. Under the terms of her mother's will, Miss Carrera was not to receive the bulk of the estate until she was 25 years old, according to Hanlon. She celebrated her twenty-fifth birthday last year. According to Hanlon he prevailed upon Miss Carrera to forego the trust fund, because of her extravagance, which she did. "The suit is no doubt an action to break the trust," said Hanlon. "Miss Carrera has no doubt kept up with her past and spent what I gave her."

MORE HYPOCRISY EXPOSED

On Wednesday The TRIBUNE exposed the hypocrisy of the Post which, while continually attacking various county newspapers carrying official advertising, has been endeavoring itself to obtain county business. Two photographic copies of letters were reproduced, one, addressed to County Clerk Gross and signed by E. A. Vandever, pleading with that official for county business. No explanation was offered of that letter. The second letter was signed by T. E. Marren, advertising solicitor, asking, on behalf of the Post, for $250 for an annual edition, this rate being 56 percent above the regular advertising rates. An attempt is made by the Post to discredit its agent, the intimation being that the letter was written without the knowledge of the management!

An alleged copy of a letter addressed to the Board of Supervisors is published by the Post, written nearly two months after the order for $250 was received, declining the amount. The amount was declined because the management of the Post insisted upon a larger sum. A thorough examination of the minutes of the Board of Supervisors, and the files of the county (public records open to any citizen) fails to show any record of the receipt of such a letter. There is on file, however, a letter signed by E. A. Vandever and addressed to Purchasing Agent John Sabin, and here reproduced, refusing the $250 appropriated, in which no policy against accepting advertising in annuals is set forth, but rather a sarcastic fling at the board on account of the amount! The San Francisco Call accepted at that time $250 from the Alameda County Board of Supervisors for its annual edition. The Oakland Post and San Francisco Call are circulated together and controlled by the same ownership. As proof of this The TRIBUNE can reproduce a statement appearing in the Post on June 17, 1920, in which the president of the Call and Post Publishing Company took Vandever to task for "exaggerated and unjust statements" run in the Post against certain local shoe dealers. The receipt on the warrant for the $250 and the endorsement on the back are here reproduced. The TRIBUNE has no criticism of the Call for accepting the advertising. It was at regular rates and in an edition that was widely circulated and of benefit in exploiting Alameda county. The TRIBUNE does, however, call attention to the statement in the alibi letter in which Vandever makes himself say that he does not "believe that any newspaper should accept public money for anything but legal advertising," while the Call, under the same control, accepted the $250 for its annual.

GERMANS BALK AT APPOINTMENT AS U. S. ENVOY

BERLIN, Oct. 29.—(By Associated Press.)—The German government is still endeavoring to find a man willing to accept the post as ambassador to the United States, but available candidates are becoming more scarce as the mark depreciates in value.

Very few possible candidates are willing to assume the financial burden of upholding the social rank of ambassador in Washington, where the cost of living is believed in some quarters here, would be especially heavy on a German resident.

The latest candidate to be considered is Prince von Hatzfeldt-Trachenberg, former counselor of the German embassy at Washington, and now commissioner of the occupied Rhineland zone.

TAX ON WINES, BEERS FIXED AT SENATE SESSION

Republicans Abandon Hope of Vote on Revenue Measure Before Next Week.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Republican Senate leaders concluded today that there was no possibility of passing the tax revision bill this week. They also indicated that there was little prospect of maintaining a quorum for a night session of the Senate today.

The Senate last night adopted an amendment to the tax revision bill placing a tax of 60 cents a gallon on beer used for medicinal purposes, and increasing the tax on whisky used for medicinal from $2.20 a gallon to $6.40 a gallon.

The amendment was offered by Senator Wadsworth, Republican, of New York, and for a time the wet and dry fight was renewed in the Senate.

Senator Wadsworth explained that since the beer regulations have been issued the tax would yield approximately $50,000,000 in revenue annually.

"The issuance of these regulations at this time was most unfortunate," remarked Senator Sterling, Republican, of South Dakota, who is in charge of the anti-beer bill that is scheduled to come up in the Senate when the tax bill is disposed of.

Previous to adopting the increased tax on liquor the Senate by a vote of 44 to 14 adopted the finance committee amendment increasing inheritance taxes from the present maximum of 35 per cent on estates of $10,000 to 50 per cent on estates of $100,000,000.

JILTED SUITOR ENDS HIS LIFE BY STARVATION

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 29.—With an Italian war bond in his pocket worth $700 and another worth an equal amount in his trunk Ignazio Novero, 46, a laborer, was found dead in the room of a local hotel yesterday. According to his friends, Novero starved himself to death because of the loss of a girl in Italy for whom he was saving the money in order that he might pay her transportation to the land of his adoption.

Novero had worked faithfully until a few months ago when a letter came telling him of the marriage of his sweetheart to a rival and the arrival of a baby. After that he was inconsolable, refused to eat and drank excessively, his friends said.

Only in Sunday's Edition of Oakland Tribune Will These Features Appear

Recently the civilized world was startled by an attempt to assassinate the United States ambassador at Paris by means of a bomb explosion. It was learned that the attempt was a protest against the conviction of murder and sentence to death of two communists in a Massachusetts town. Since then outrages have been directed at representatives of the United States in various parts of the world. Few had heard of the Massachusetts incident; few knew who Sacco and Vanzetti were. The whole thing has been pretty much of a puzzle. Now Edmund Hart of Boston wires the Sunday TRIBUNE an explanation of the affair and throws some interesting light on what has become an international problem.

England has been flooded the last week with anti-Irish propaganda, so much so that Lloyd George's policy of conciliation has been threatened, says George N. Barnes, member of parliament. Edmund de Valera's telegram the hope furnished the excuse for the outbreak of anti-Irish feeling and has all but wrecked the Irish conference.

Premier Briand is coming to the Washington arms conference with one purpose in mind—the protection of France, says William Bird; and this economically as well as militarily. Briand no longer thinks that money can be forced from Germany at will. He feels the fate of Europe is dependent on economic readjustments. With a vote of confidence behind him, Briand will take an aggressive, rather than a negative stand.

A united European commonwealth, devoid of customs and military boundaries, long has been a dream of Maximilian Harden. He sees the possible beginning of such a commonwealth in the German-Polish economic co-operation decreed in Upper Silesia, and thinks Germany should go into the arrangement wholeheartedly instead of childishly preferring to freeze rather than wear mended gloves.

Andre Tardieu, sometimes called "the tiger's club," was the storm center of the last week's debates in the French parliament which threatened the downfall of Premier Briand and the cancellation of his trip to Washington. Briand won by the scant majority of a 55 per cent vote. Tardieu in the Sunday TRIBUNE points out some of the salient features of the debate and warns that French politics will be far from adjourned during the Washington conference.

Berkeley Workman Overcome by Gas

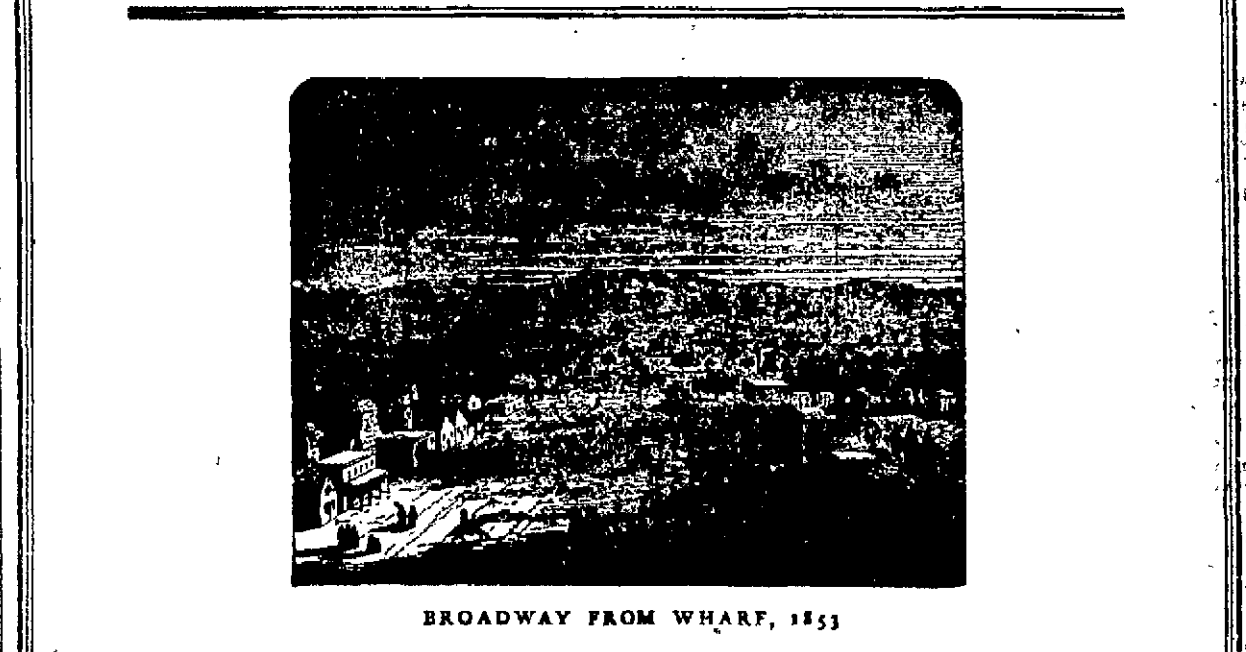

BERKELEY, Oct. 29.—Overcome by gas fumes as he was working on a main at Adeline and Woolsey streets, Marcelino Pasquale, 28, employee of the Pacific Gas & Electric company, was rushed to Merritt Hospital in Oakland this morning, where active measures were necessary to save his life.

Two other workmen jumped from the ditch in which they were working when the gas main broke. They called to Pasquale to follow them, but the latter was too weak from the fumes to jump to safety. When Pasquale was taken from the ditch he was unconscious. He is expected to recover.

Pasquale, who resides on Myrtle street in Oakland, is a new employee of the gas company.

Old Oakland and Oakland's Oldest Bank

Oakland schools date back to the year 1853, when Broadway presented the appearance pictured above. The first schoolhouse was at 4th and Clay. Miss Hanna Jayne was the only teacher employed until 1855, when Franklin Warner became principal with Miss Jayne as assistant. These two, however, received no pay for 1855, as "City Marshal Hogan decamped with the school funds."

In 1867, when The Oakland Bank of Savings was organized, Oakland had 6 teachers at a combined salary of $750 per month. In 1868, school bonds were issued for $168,000, most of which money went for school buildings.

The Oakland High School was organized July 12, 1869, with 29 pupils. The High School building was erected at Market and 12th Streets in 1870, and dedicated September 17, 1871.

In an article on the school situation, the City Directory of 1869 states: "The Public Schools of Oakland are in a condition that is most satisfactory to the people, and creditable to the city. We have 1 school houses, containing 16 class rooms. Twelve teachers are employed, 11 of the number being females. Each building is provided with a parlor or organ, except Lafayette, for which a piano is to be purchased. Estimated daily attendance for the past year, 461."

A comparison with the Oakland school situation of 1868 and the present day, when Oakland has 51 school buildings, 1,303 teachers, and an enrollment of 40,174 pupils is analogous to a comparison between The Oakland Bank of Savings with deposits of $65,656 in 1868, and over $43,000,000 in the present year.

Jim Barnes Has to Cover Pelham Course in 6 Under Par to Win in the Match:

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—A superwoman of the links forced a superman golfer to unwanted heights to surpass her yesterday at the Pelham Country Club.

James Barnes, national open champion, defeated Miss Cecil Leitch, woman champion of Great Britain, France and Canada, by three and one in an exhibition match in which he granted her six bisques. To overcome this handicap he played such remarkable golf that he made the 6419-yard course in 68, six strokes under par and four under the previous course record, set by himself. Miss Leitch had a medal score of 88, the best a woman had ever done on the course, three strokes under the card that won the qualifying medal in the recent woman's national championship.

Miss Leitch played Barnes in the afternoon, after defeating Miss Alexia Stirling, former national champion, by two up. The Englishwoman's card in the morning was six strokes higher than her record in the afternoon.

Barnes would have won by six and four in a non-handicap match, but the six-bisque handicap, a form of play in which the weaker player is given strokes which are not counted against him, was a great obstacle for him to overcome. It meant that Miss Leitch could select at will green after the putts were sunk to subtract from her strokes for the hole on any of the six strokes which she took permitted her for the match. She usually took a bisque to halve holes which Barnes had won.

At the turn Barnes, having played in one under par, was two up on Leitch. She then played two of her bisques to halve two holes which he had played in one under par, and six birdies; he played nine holes in par and two holes in one over par. He came home in 32, five under par. While the match ended at the seventh hole, the two players continued to play until the eighth hole, when Barnes took a bisque to halve the hole. His second left him with a bad lie near a stone wall just off the green.

Harvard Takes On Center Team In Big Game

Penn. State and Georgia Tech. Another Important Grid Argument.

By JACK VEIOCK.

The football season is getting well along now, yet the big game throughout the country are still tuning up for important contests. Today's schedule shows that a number of major teams are taking on tough opponents, figured to prime the season's most important battles just a little later.

The outstanding games on the schedule are:

Penn State vs. Georgia Tech at New York.

Harvard vs. Center at Cambridge, Mass. Brown at New Haven.

Princeton vs. Virginia at Princeton. Penn vs. Pittsburgh at Philadelphia.

Columbia vs. Dartmouth at Ithaca. Columbia vs. Williams at Columbia. Syracuse vs. W. J. at Syracuse.

WESTERN GAMES.

Illinois vs. Michigan at Urbana. Wisconsin vs. Minnesota at Madison.

Chicago vs. Colorado at Chicago. Kansas vs. Kansas Aggies at Lawrence.

There's quite a controversy down to the point over the nationality of Harold and Gerson. Fitzgerald Broom, Harold started it all himself when he told the gang he was from a boat, somewhere on the Pacific coast. Broom sprang the information when some of the boys called him "about getting" sea sick.

"Guess I ain't going to get sea sick," said Broom, "I was born on a boat."

"If you was born on a boat, what you doing around here?" demanded Tiny, the gentlemanly soda clerk.

"Well, if I was born on a boat, I'd be a fish, that's what you are, and you ain't you're a sea gull. What did they call you when you was young?" Finnian haddie, or Flynn, asked.

"Finnian haddie and Flynn," said Broom, "I was born on a boat, and I was a fish, that's what you are, and you ain't you're a sea gull. What did they call you when you was young?" Finnian haddie, or Flynn, asked.

FACTS and FABLES by ROSS RYDER

The Fable of the Respectable Community Which Believed a Church Unnecessary.

During the DARK AGES there was a small town in the midst of a THRIVING COMMUNITY. The town possessed all of the NECESSITIES in the way of a THEATER, BLACK-SMITH SHOP, many UP TO DATE STORES and a CHURCH.

Every resident was a member of a CLUB which held REGULAR MEETINGS and discussed TOPICS of INTEREST. Each club sponsored a PLAN for the DEVELOPMENT of the TOWN.

But none of these PLANS contained

TWILIGHT TO BE PASTOR'S TOPIC

"The Twilight of History," a sermon dealing with the twilight of the day, of the year, of old age and of the world's history, will be delivered by Rev. Harold Govette in Olivet Congregational church tomorrow morning. This is an age of more light than any other age in the world's history, according to Rev. Govette, and even with the increase of crime and sin the light of Christianity will keep shining so that there will be no darkness.

"Mud-pits and Rocks" is to be the subject of the pastor's evening sermon. Reference will be made to the mud-pits of sin and the rocks of safety. The sermon is one of a series which Rev. Govette is preaching especially for men.

"THINKING FORWARD"

will be the subject of the sermon by Rev. Clarence Reed Sunday at 11:00 a. m.

There are three classes of people, according as they live in the past, present or future. Most people live in the present, seeking to enjoy the pleasures of today. Many people live in the past, treasuring the memories of other days. The great need of today is for people to live and think in terms of the future.

JUDGE RUTHERFORD
LIFE, perfect, limitless; with a regenerated race; on a restored earth with a corrected climate and life-perpetuating food; under a government which will satisfy the righteous desires of every living creature. And now it's here, at the door! The portals of the new age are swinging open and many will enter and never die.

Is it any wonder that we have to tell it again and again? How could one in possession of this priceless knowledge remain silent? The very stones would cry out!

You can by no means afford to let business or pleasure or anyone deprive you of the solace and benefits enjoyed by those who have investigated this timely and heart-cheering message. The opportunity is provided in the lecture by

First Religious Service Held on Shores of S. F. Bay

Where was the first Christian religious service held on the Western Hemisphere celebrated? It was not on the Atlantic coast, but on the shores of San Francisco bay according to statistics prepared by the Episcopal church. Still in quest of the passage to India which Columbus was seeking when he discovered the Western World, Sir Francis Drake the English navigator, passed through the Straits of Magellan sailed northward in his ship, "The Golden Hind," and on the evening of December 25, 1579, entered a "goodly bay" which is now known as San Francisco bay. With his crew of sea rovers, he went ashore, and while a little band of friendly Indians looked on, he made a plan to plant a colony, however, and shortly thereafter Drake sailed away.

The next Christian service of which there is any record was celebrated in what is now part of North Carolina in St. Walter Raleigh's colony of Roanoke which was founded July 22, 1585. While an ancient chronicler notes that on the 14th of August, 1585, Matteo (a native Indian chief) by the communion of Sir Walter Raleigh, was christened in Roanoke and called Lord Thelme in reward for his faithful service.

This colony almost immediately after becoming lost in the mist of history then in 1605 a company went out by Ferdinand Gorges landed at the mouth of the Kennebec river in Maine, where a religious service was held, but the colony languished, and finally also passed away. It was not therefore until the establishment of the Virginia colony of 1607 when the good ships Discovery, Godspeed and Susan Constant commanded by Captain Christopher Newport sailed up the James and landed at Jamestown, that a church was formally established on American soil and eventually expanded into the present Protestant Episcopal church in the United States, whose missionary society is celebrating its 100th anniversary this year.

Led by Chaplain Robert Hunt the little band knelt and prayed. The redoubtable Captain John Smith was along and under his direction they next built a fort. Then a church was created. Chaplain Hunt describes this as "a pen of poles with a sail for a roof, and for a pulpit a bar lashed between two convenient trees." Hewn logs served for seats and in this rude temple the Holy Communion was celebrated for the first time in America.

Robert Hunt became the first priest of the church on American soil. He lived only three years after he led the colonists to Virginia. He died of palsy and was buried on the site of the colony he helped to found. The history of the Episcopal church in America dates from his ministry.

NEW PASTOR WILL PREACH TODAY AT SWEDISH CHURCH

Rev. Anthony E. Lind, formerly superintendent of the Oregon-Washington district of the Swedish M. E. church, tendered his resignation at the conference recently in Seattle to take charge of the Swedish Methodist work in Oakland and Berkeley. The two Swedish churches are to be united to form the Swedish M. E. church at Grant and Woolsey streets, Berkeley.

Rev. Lind was pastor of the Oakland church some years ago, and served also as editor of the Swedish publication, The Western Messenger, published by the Methodist Book Concern. He lived in the Casbah district for more than ten years before going north.

Rev. Lind will conduct services in his church tomorrow morning and evening. He will have charge of the Sunday school which meets at 10 a. m. The church league meets each Sunday evening at 6:30. Tomorrow afternoon the league will have a series of the services at the county infirmary.

The first quarterly conference will be held in the church Monday night. District Superintendent O. F. Lindstrom will be present.

Important business transacted at the meeting.

make it large enough to assert Japanese mastery in the Pacific.
There must be a readjustment of the policy sooner or later. If the Harding conference at Washington does not provoke an immediate change the future will devise other means and agencies of change. It is impossible that prosecution of the policy can go on indefinitely, for it would mean ultimately that no other peoples in the Pacific could exist except at the toleration of Japan.
Consequently Admiral Kato's insistence that Japan's navy program under a given condition cannot be curtailed a single inch commands serious consideration by all nations, but particularly by the Japanese government. Supported actively by the Japanese nation it will inevitably lead to the same sort of ruin that has fallen upon Germany.

BAIT FOR VOTES.
When framing the proposed new charter, on which the people are to vote on November 15, the freeholders apparently concluded that it would possibly get them some votes for their scheme if they inserted a declaration of intention to give the former soldier preference in the selection of public employees. So they inserted such a provision.

Now, under the present system and administration of government in Oakland, the former service man is given effective, as distinguished from declaratory, preference. Rule 3, Section 3 1/2 of the Civil Service Rules reads in part:

"In all civil service examinations affecting ex-service men, who have been honorably discharged from the service of the United States Army or Navy, physical defects shall not cause their names to be withheld for any examination they may take, and be otherwise qualified for."

That is all the ex-soldier desires—that minor disabilities suffered in the service of his country shall not constitute a bar to employment in the public service in peace times. He desires no advantages over other men or women as to mental and moral tests. He merely desires that the honorable wounds of battle be not held against him; that there be no prejudice of any kind against him.

This and more he is assured under both the rules and the policy of all the municipal governments in Alameda county.

The freeholders committee thought to capitalize this commendable practice by writing it into their new charter. The advocates of the new charter scheme dilate upon the performance in beseeching votes. But they fail to state that the new charter lodges with an autocratic city manager unlimited powers in the treatment of employees once they enter the public service and deprives the civil service employee of the existing right of appeal against dismissal, suspensions and fines for political reasons.

This new charter translates the present practice and policy into a paper declaration which is at once rendered meaningless and hypocritical by other sections of the charter. Will many former soldiers be deceived by the trickery?

IS IT IMAGINATION?
Mr. Thomas A. Edison expresses the opinion that only about two percent of the people have sufficient imagination to comprehend the most ordinary proposition put before them in plain language. He says one may write in the most simple language the story of any ordinary event of the day and not more than two percent of the readers will correctly comprehend its significance.

Is it really imagination that Mr. Edison has in mind? There seems to be plenty of imagination in the human mind. At times there is plainly too much imagination for correct understanding.

What seems to be the real trouble with most people is that they live mentally from day to day. They do retain one day the knowledge acquired the day before. They do not retain and coordinate information gained over any considerable period of time.

The cause for this mental flux is largely the emotionalism which so many people indulge. They seek thrills and cater to the taste for sensations, instead of feeding the soul and mind on solid, healthful food.

NOTES and COMMENT

The failure of the innocent by-standing populace to collapse in fright, and of the United States Government to curl up, had its effect, just as all who were able to figure on probabilities expected it to. There was a time, and that not far back, when the Federal government was in a way of parleying and conceding when such an impasse threatened, but it is different now.

Champion Dempsey now has a contest on hand that he cannot settle with an upstart. He has been sued by a man who accuses him of coyness with his wife and who claims $100,000 in damages. The public has evidence of the champion's distaste for war, of his agility with his mits, and now it awaits tender as to his prowess with the tender passion.

The wheeze about a "white elephant" may be more than ordinarily appreciated by the residents of Moss Beach, where a dead whale has been washed up. The difficulty of removing the mass must vibrate with the unpleasantness of enduring its presence. Seen from the deck of a passenger steamer, spouting gaily in the offing, the whale may be picturesque. Dead in the back yard it may readily be regarded in another light again.

The Southern Senators are greatly scandalized by the President's race equality talk. As the Southern Senators would not be likely to approve any talk that a Republican President might indulge in, their attitude may not greatly surprise; but the race question in later years has grown beyond that between two sections of the United States—which is the range that concerns the Southern Senators. It is now a world proposition.

A pathetic thing is the dwindling ranks of the Grand Army of the Republic—the thin files of veterans who muster on Decoration Day. And the same emotion must be felt in the sections where the Confederate veterans muster. It is illustrative of the healing effects of time that the two bodies, fiercely antagonistic at one time, are now entirely tolerant of each other, their members even hobnobbing on occasion.

The aliens who were in a hurry to pay their $10 extraordinary poll tax clamor for its return, now that the law has been declared unconstitutional. Generally it is a safe and commendable of taxes, but this is an instance where promptness overdid itself.

That Congressman Blanton of Texas fantasied when the rapinism was pronounced on his action in causing obscene matter to be inserted in the Congressional Record discloses a new side of him, but one which does not necessarily mitigate the action of which he stood accused. He would have been thought just as much of, the chances are, if he had brazened it out.

Former Emperor Charles of Austria-Hungary is not to be given refuge in England. That country appears to realize that already there are enough turbulent spirits—centers of discord—within its borders, and that accessions are not desirable. As a matter of fact, Great Britain could supply any country that considers itself too humdrum with a corps of strenuous spirits who would be able to start something.

The Red Bluff News must have a particular editor in mind: "The editor who assumes there is but one side to a question should present some argument to prove his lopsided theory, instead of wasting his energies throwing bricks at his contemporaries and patting himself on the back."

The assertion that the police across the bay never capture a bandit could be cynically disputed. The one who held up the ferry postoffice has been apprehended—if the corpse of the suicide captured in a vacant lot shall be definitely identified as the hold-up and murderer.

There should be a general call to arms of all who make any pretense to gallantry over the assertion that there are no beautiful women in the United States. A Boston professor said it, and one way to get to the bottom of the matter is to get even, pending the mobilization of the forces of gallantry. Is to say, What could you expect from a diet of beans?

SPIRIT of the STATE PRESS.
San Francisco "color psychologist" predicts an awful crime wave because black is to be the favored color for women's gowns this year. They've blamed crime waves in the past two years on the war and on prohibition—and now they're going to put the blame where they always put it sooner or later—on the women.—San Luis Obispo Tribune.

Returns from the first carload of apples shipped from Anderson valley have been received. The car was sold in Chicago. Joseph Kelly had a consignment of Jonathans, which brought from $2.75 to $3.35 a box, averaging $3 for about 43 pounds, and after paying all expenses netting $7.50 a ton. S. D. Lawson shipped 23 tons of Jonathans, which brought from $2.50 to $2.80, or $55.00 a ton.—Ukiah Press.

The strike of the San Joaquin Valley oil workers has been unique in many respects. The workers, among other things, demand that the government Department of Labor sign wage agreements as third party witnesses. The oil companies maintain that matters relative to wages, etc., are strictly between the employer and the employee, and that questions with them should be settled without outside interference, and that no "third parties" are necessary.—Palmdale Index.

THE TROJAN HORSE UP-TO-DATE.

THE OLD GANG IN EUROPE

Sir Philip Gibb Pens Strong Condemnation of Intriguing Statesmen Who Move in Inner Circles of Political Government and Fix the Fate of Peoples.

[The following unflinching indictment of "The Old Gang"—those famous men of Europe who have moulded the world's fate during these last few years, is from Sir Philip Gibb's "More That Must Be Told," which will soon be published by Harper & Brothers, printed by permission of Harper & Brothers.]
"Looking back at the three years of history after the armistice, three years of blundering, moral degradation, and reaction to the lowest traditions of national politics—the most tolerant of minds examining into the causes of that evil time, must formulate a grave indictment against one company of men. Arraigned before an honest jury of public opinion, they are a fairly small gang of notorious persons, politically of doubtful character and shady antecedents. They are the Leaders of Europe—the Old Gang—still for the most part in command of the machinery of government.
"These men in England, France and Italy are those who were playing one game of politics before the war, fighting for place and power, taking their turns, now in, now out, according to the revolutions of the party wheels, but, whether in or out, belonging to the inner circle of that system which under the fair name of 'representative government' arranges the fate of peoples without their knowledge or consent, and by artful appeals to popular passion and ignorance, by spell words and watchwords of fine sound and empty meaning, keeps the mob obedient to their directing will, even though they are killed in the shambles by the enticing cry of, 'Dilly, dilly, come and be killed.'
"The statesmen of Europe—English, French, German, Russian and others—might have allied themselves with the new idealism stirring among the common folk of Europe. Some of them, indeed, paid lip service to those ideals of international peace, and with elaborate insincerity, smiling with cynicism up their sleeves, proposed resolutions at The Hague to restrict the horrors of war and to sprinkle its stretch with rose-water. But mostly, and with intellectual atheism they used the immense and secret powers of their governments to kill the pacifist instincts of democratic idealism, to break or buy its leaders and to secure the continuance of the old game between courts and foreign offices for commercial advantages, military alliances, unexploited territories.
"These men of the Old Gang were at least no nobler than their predecessors through centuries of their kind. They were not one of them inspired by any vision of world policy higher than immediate material advantage, the imperial aggrandizement. Not a man among them, seeing the shadow of a world war creeping nearer, uttered a loud cry to the conscience of humanity or any warning of approaching doom or any plea for some better argument than that of massacre. They were industrious with squallid bargains for the 'undeveloped' spaces of the earth in Africa and Asia. From one foreign office to another went bickering notes, claims, protests and threats. The Paschoda crisis, the Boer war, the Agadir crisis, twenty years later, was a challenge to Germany by England and France—a challenge voiced by Lord George, the 'leader of democracy,' in a speech which summoned up the dreadful vision of Armageddon as lightly, as carelessly as men might hail a fantastic nightmare scene.

about YOUR HEALTH

Why Good Resolutions Are a Fine Indigestion Cure.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D., Commissioner of Health, New York City.

Probably the most common disease of the human family is indigestion. "Indigestion" and "dyspepsia" are names given a group of well-known symptoms—headache, pain in the stomach, belching of gas, nausea, vomiting and more or less fever. This condition is not like diphtheria or typhoid fever, which are due to specific and known causes. On the contrary, indigestion is caused by your own faulty method of feeding—taking the wrong food or too much food—or it is secondary to some disease of the heart, liver, nervous system, kidneys or intestines. In short, then, indigestion is due to a multitude of causes. It is really a symptom, or a group of symptoms, instead of being a true disease.

You will see at once that indigestion cannot be treated in one particular and unvarying manner. There is no "cure-all," or "specific" for dyspepsia. There never can be a "cure" or a serum for its relief. Neither can there be found a vaccine or other preventive agent. Acidity of the stomach is a pretty constant symptom of indigestion. This can be neutralized, and many of the uncomfortable sensations of indigestion will disappear as a result. You will see, however, that the underlying cause has not been treated, merely the effect has been controlled. The first rule of treatment in any disease is to remove the cause. As you can imagine, this is not easy to accomplish in indigestion. There is a multitude of possible causes and some of them are so intangible and elusive that they are hard to locate. In the occasional attacks of indigestion, plainly due to indigestion in eating, your good sense tells you how to avoid the trouble.

For the attack itself proceed as follows: Refrain from all food until several hours after the disappearance of every one of the symptoms. Take particular pains to avoid milk. Empty the stomach and bowels. Tepid soda or salt solution, one teaspoonful to one pint of water, or a weak mustard solution—one-half of a teaspoonful to one pint of water, or a weak mustard solution—one-half to a teaspoonful to one pint of water used as an enema—will flush the bowels.

Go to bed, keep perfectly quiet, apply a hot-water bag to the feet and another to the abdomen. Lie in the room dark and try to drop off to sleep. If the attacks of dyspepsia are frequent, overcome the chronic constipation which almost invariably lies at the foundation of indigestion. Have the urine examined to see if the kidneys are acting properly. Bear in mind that the distant organs may be the seat of the real disturbance. Bye-strain, or focal infection from bad teeth, diseased tonsils or infected nasal sinuses may be the cause. In general, however, your own bad habits—late hours, excessive smoking, overfeeding, bad food or hasty eating—are the real cause of it. Good resolutions, resolutely followed, will cure most cases of indigestion.

IN TRAINING.
He would be brave in dangers great, He spoke of deeds he hoped to do. Some day the stirring call of fate Should try his soul and find it true; In one big hour the strength he'd find To earn the right to stand with Kings— But he was selfish and unkind, And was untrue in little things.
He longed for glory, yet he failed To train his spirit for the test. He thought that when he was assailed, His courage would be at its best. He slipped along through life without Heeding the laws which govern men. Thinking when danger called him out.
Life is a training court for all! Who would be strong in time of need? Must prove his strength by duties small. And not in one great shining deed: Brave men are brave from day to day. True men in everything are true, Who would have courage for the fray, Must be courageous through and through.

Daily ALMANAC

by Ad. Schuster

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 29.

One of the first books for good boys, "The Philosopher and the Boy," was written by Aaron Cleveland, a clergyman, who was born on this day in 1715. Robert Hoe, the inventor of the printing press, was born in 1784. In 1814 the Robert Fulton, the first steam war vessel, was launched.

S. A. M.

Clifford Raymond and John McCutcheon have published an "Almanack" of their own. It is called "Clifford's and John's Almanack" and the observations on flowers and birds, the philosophical paragraphs and the work of Clifford, John, the famous cartoonist, has done the decorating.

One may find under this day in the book the fact that Edmund Halley, astronomer, was born in 1656; John Keats in 1795; and that Sir Walter Raleigh was beheaded in Old Palace Yard in 1618.

Says Clifford of Hallowe'en: "At Hallowe'en you recognize the gusto of existence, something broadly and courageously conceived as a thing of appetite and sensation, laughter and tears, birth, marriage and death, the cask of the home-made wine as one expression, the casket of home-made carpentry as another. Life gets its joy from the processes of the earth and returns to enrich them."

Clifford's part in the book is to tell one how rare and sweet is each season. He calls attention to the frost on the pumpkin, the ripening tomatoes, the shagbark hickory dropping its leaves, the arrival of the hermit thrush and no end of important happenings and developments.

The Almanack of Clifford and John is one of the very best, one of them, mind you, that we have read. It is not so medicinal as Ayer's and lacks the bitters of Hostetter's. Best of all, it came to hand at a time when the contributors to this almanack were loafing and our own will to work was not functioning.

The Hindoes have given to Pussfoot Johnson a case of jewels, a gold and inlaid watch, and a photograph of a prince. They have held great parades in his honor and, before long, will have him riding on the elephant of the rajput. FOR THE INTELLIGENCIA.
O. O. Sir:

May I, as President of Group 2A of the National Association of Intellectual Fellers, call your attention to the opening of a $4,000,000 motion picture theater, in Chicago. May I also state that 5000 persons may seat themselves therein. May I, still speaking as President of Group 2A of the National Association of Intellectual Fellers, view this with alarm? And may I ask where are we arriving at?
